

Former HKU staff admits misconduct over use of corporate credit cards

05.05.10

A former Administrative Assistant of The University of Hong Kong (HKU), charged by the ICAC, admitted at the District Court today (Wednesday) that she had misappropriated over $3 million worth of goods and cash with two corporate credit cards.

June Chan Sau-hung, 42, former Administrative Assistant of the Department of Surgery of HKU, pleaded guilty to one count of misconduct in public office.

Judge Joseph Yau Chi-lap adjourned the case until May 20 for sentence, pending a background report. The defendant was remanded in the custody of the Correctional Services Department.

The case arose from a corruption complaint. Subsequent ICAC enquiries revealed the misconduct offence.

The court heard that in 1995, the Department of Surgery set up the Skills Development Centre (SDC) at the Queen Mary Hospital.

At the time of the offence, the defendant was responsible for the administration of the SDC, which provided training to all surgical specialists, medical students, interns, nurses and doctors.

In January 2001, the SDC applied to a bank for two corporate credit cards for settling official expenses incurred.

The court heard that between January 1, 2004 and December 31, 2006, the defendant, without authorisation, had used the corporate credit cards to make purchases of goods and services and withdraw cash advances, amounting to over $3 million, for her personal and private purposes.

Subsequently, about $2.8 million was repaid to the SDC. In December 2007, she resigned from HKU, the court was told.

The prosecution was today represented by Senior Public Prosecutor Michael Wong, assisted by ICAC officer Zoe Lau.
